Reference: 720423

Application

This specification covers two versions of a flexible, portable multi-conductor cable for interconnecting complex weapons systems. The cable is a complex composite construction of singles, pairs, coaxial and twin-axial components. The cable is constructed with an overall jacket, meeting the requirements of MIL-C-13777.

Dash one cable uses commercially available data transmission cables.

Dash two cable version uses components with increased electrical requirements.
